

Neurodiversity in the creative classroom

Sunday 8th September
4pm to 6pm

For Brisbane teachers & artists

Do you work with young people in drama, theatre or other creative arts? This highly practical and engaging session might just be for you! Work with leading paediatric occupational therapist, Sarah Cavallaro, to develop the skills you need to confidently support neurodivergent kids.

Sarah is an industry leader in neurodiversity affirming practice and is passionate about educating teachers on practical ways to support the development and growth of their students. In this hands on session participants will gain knowledge and tools grounded in up to date research. Join us as we explore brain-based strategies for supporting neurodivergent kids in creative classrooms.
